

Barn House Redefined

Archetype team - 17/05/2024

Nestled within a triangular plot in a small settlement in Rhodes, our challenge was to transform an old linear barn located at a crossroad into a contemporary, serene retreat house. Surrounded by the destruction of similar typological barns by new touristic developments, we were compelled to ask ourselves how to honor the memory of the past and the barn's function while meeting the present's needs without resorting to nostalgia. Our synthetic approach, developed as an answer to the question above, can be described as two distinct gestures.
